Baseball Game Goes Twelve Innings, Visitors Losing by Score of 4 to 3.

GARDEN CITY STUDENTS
CARRY HOME RECORD

All Events Are Gamely Contested by Well Trained Athletes.

The finest game of baseball ever witnessed between student teams on a local diamond was played on Cummings field Saturday afternoon between the University of Utah and Brigham Young University of Provo, resulting in a score of 4 to 3 in a twelve-inning game for the home team. The University used Larsen and Houston in the box, although Larsen had only given the visitors seven hits up to the ninth inning, when Houston was put in. The latter struck out nine men in twelve up, the visitors nearly swinging their heads in trying to find the ball. Johnson, who pitched for Provo, went through the game allowing but eight hits. He pitched a star game and had good support behind him. The Brigham Young University took the lead in the fifth inning with a score of 3 to 2, but was in the eighth through an error by second base by a throw over first baseman's head, which scored a man from second base. In the twelfth inning the home team made two hits, which brought in the run, and the game was over.

Track and Field.

Immediately after the baseball game the field and track events took place, being met by the University of Utah, who won by a score of 91 points to 27. The visitors showed up in events which the home team had thought were finished. Hunt was looked as a winner in the broad jump, but was beaten out by nearly five inches by a runner from Provo, who exhibited a new state record. The half-mile race was captured by Chamberlain in a game finish, with Bailey and Christensen finishing close behind. A majority of the events were won by the University boys, and the meet proved to be more exciting than was anticipated. The local boys looked for an easy game, but were put to their utmost strength in the contest. While the score is one-sided, it does not tell the real story of the contest.
